vorce in the suit which was brought by the wife of United States senator-elect Tabor, of Colorado, it especially decreed that he should pay Mrs. Tabor one quarter of a million dollars, which the millionaire promptly paid over. He has nearly ten millions left.

A report got in circulation that Postmaster Payne, of Milwaukee, would soon be relieved of his office because he was opposed to civil service reform. The Evening Wisconsin takes the liberty of saying that the report was started by one who knew it was false; and that the fact is that Mr. Payne was one of the very first officials in the union to ask the department to place his office under the opurations of the new civil service reform

The uncertainties of politics are as great as the uncertainties of life. A United States senator who paid $60,000 for a house in Washington, was ruled out by his constituents after a single term and was compelled to sell his house for' less than $15,000. Last year Senator Windom, whose chances for being returned for the third or fourth term seemed the very best among the senators, sold his comfortable home in Winons, to hetp pay for his new house in Washingtop. Some who thoroughly appreciated the ever-changing sentiment of the people, advised him to cling to his old home in his own state, but he thought his tenure of office was sure, and did not heed their advise. He has been beaton for reelection, is without a home in Winona, and probably cannot sell his Washington house for half what he paid for it.

The senate of this state is getting to be a fast body. Last week it performed the feat of passing a city charter bill in half an hour which included its being messaged to the assembly. On Monday evening it rushed through another charter in the same way, under suspension of the rules, without any consideration, or even a committee from that body. To this the State Journal very aptly suggests that "these ponderous instruments very often, in fact, commonly, contain provisions of a general nature which entitle them to the scrutiny of a judiciary committee and there ought to be a strict rule in both branches of the legislature requiring their reference to such a committee. whose report should be requisite to their consideration before the house. The whole process is a direct contradiction of the idea that a legislature is a deliberative body whose office it is to enact wise and beneficent laws."

A very important enterprise has been set on foot in this state, as will be seen from the following dispatch from Madison to the Milwaukee Septinel:

An important project has been started by a number of Janesville and Chicago physicians, which will be carried out if the can secure the desired legislation. It is intended by them to establish a large private insone asylam to be patronized by the wealthy class of patients in Wisconsin. The institution will cost $150,000 and will be located either at Janesville, Racine or Waukesha. The parties interested want the legislature exempt them from taxation, and they will agree to place the institution under the supervision of the state board of supervision in all matters except its financial concerns. Dr. Lord will introduce a bill in the senate to-morrow to cover the case. The institution will be crected near the state line but just where has not been determined yet. Such an institution is much needed, and although it will be used largely for the accommodation of the insane in and about Chicago, it will likewise be a great convenience to many persons in Wisconsin. Sixty thousand dollars has already been subscribed, and more will be forthsoming when the money is needed. The institution will be erected in Wisconsin, because the laws of this state on the subject are more liberal than those of Illi-

The Milwaukee papers | are evidently not well pleased with the verdict of the coroner's jury in the Newhall house in quest. The Evening Wisconsin printed an editorial review of the verdict which was a very sensible review, and the Sentinel heartily endorsed it. One paragraph of the editorial read as follows:

It is very easy now to say that the New-ball house was cheaply constructed, and at is popular to say that it was not carefully and sufficiently provided with escapes. It may be partially true to say this, but the fault lies largely back of these—in the lax and indifferent public with the soutiment on matters connected with the sacredness of human life, and of property, too. Individuals will not submit to gov erument interference and consorship in matters of private concern like the construction of one's house, as they do in l'aris, for instance. Until public sentiment will sustain such interference and supervisions, we shall have more theater and hotel holocausts. There are a thousand hotels in the United States that are not more strongly built, nor so well adapted to escape, and less vigilantly kept then the ill-fated Newhall, and to them the censure of the coroner's jury applies with, even greater force than to

Of course it is an easy matter for six men to say that the hotel was set on fire that the ladder trucks were badly managed, that the fire escapes were insufficient, that there was culpable negligence on the part of the management, and all that, but these statements do not benefit the community nor lighten the burden of sorrow which the great calamity throw upon the people of Milwaukee. The fire was a remarkably strange one. The appailing loss of life was one of these accidents that ouzzles the will. Such a loss in a hotel was nover known before, and may not occur again in a hundred years. It so happened in this particular case that the fire became the master of human life, that before it was discovered,

When the court granted a decree of di- the flames and smoke had complete possession of the fifth and sixth stories, and after that no human power could have checked the onward march of the fire nor delivered more lives from death. Because it proved the most calamitous hotel fire ever known in the United States, it is hardly wise to condemn the management, find fault with the fire department, or attach blame to the telegraph wires. Somethings are decreed to be beyond all human control, and the burning of the Newhall house with its fearful fatality, seems to have been one of these unfortunate things.

A MARTYR MOTHER,

Who Goes to Her Death For Her Child.

The Shocking Double Tragedy in a Jury Room at St. Louis.

Story of a Horrid Crime, and of the Unparalleled Devotion of a Loving Wife and Mother.

8s. Lours, Feb. 7 .- Fuller details of the terrible tragedy in the court-room here are given. Parker was a young man of thirty-three years, and had been married six years. When sober he was hard-working and industrious, but in drink was a fiend. His wife, who had born him two boys-one of whom, aged twenty months, survives-was a singularly pretty woman of twenty-four years, who had been most devoted to him since his incarceration eighteen mouths ago on a charge of murdering Michael Payton in a Christy avenue saloon. While carousing with a man named Lyons, without any hard words passing between them, suddenly Parker knifed Payson. The terrible nature of the assault is told by Lyons, who had been brought from New Orleans to testify in the case, which was to have been tried Monday, On referring to the stabbing, after describing the manner in which the three men had conversed together, he said: "After we had been in the saloon awhile, I told Payton he had better come home. Parker had his arm around Payton's shoulder, and they were joking together. When I asked Payton to come home, he had a glass of beer at his mouth, and he did not lower his hand till he emptied the glass. I noticed while he was drinking that Parker was tapping Payton's abdomen lightly with something, as if in fun. I did not know that Parker had a knife, and Payton did not know that he was cut until after he placed the beer-glass on the counter, when he placed his hand to his stomach and said: 'Here, Alcek, I believe the fellow has cut me. My insides are coming out. Try and put them back.' I unbuttoned his yest, and taking his entrails into my hands tried to put them back into place, but I couldn't do it. He said then to let him lie on his back. I carried him to the corner, by which time the ambulanco took him to the dispensary, and from there he went to the city hospital, where he

Notwithstanding this very direct story and the fact that Parker had a very bad reputation, his counsel, ex-Governor Charles Johnson and Presty N. Jones, were confident that they would secure his acquitation the ground of insanity. A few minutes before the tracedy Johnson got permission of the cent to have Parker removed from the prisoner's cage to the jury-room in order that his counsel might confor with him. Johnson and Jones had a consultation with him, during which he seemed to be highly gratified at their assurance that they would close him. Justas Mr. Johnson messa transer has occome very sackly, and it is believed that chronic lung trouble and general debility had so unsorted his mind that he was not mentally responsible for his acts.

Further investigation of the case elicited such evidence as left-little room to doubt that Mrs. Parker went to her death with a fall.

such evidence as left-little room to doubt that Mrs. Parker went to her death with a full knowledge that it was impending, and with such calanness and courage as is seldom witnessed, even in public executions. When his wife called at the jail Sunday afternoon he had an earnest talk with her, and for two long hours, four times as long as her usual Sunday visit, he argued some proposition and coaxed her to do something, she meanwhile protesting and weeping bitterly. Finally she consonted, and, drying her tears, went away, looking very pale. During the afternoon at notes she said she had to die, and wept at in-tervals as she carossod her baby—wondered what was to become of it, and estimated what was to be the means of its support after her death, dwelling considerably on the fact that it would have $1,000 from the Knights of is would have $1,000 from the Knights of Honor.

In the morning she was very quiet, but pale, as she left home for the court, and she took the baby with her. The ruse the husband had devised to preeme the pisto! from his sister worked well. Consont of the court to his retirement to the jury-room having been obtained, he entered it with his counsel and his sister. The wife seeing him go into the jury-room, rose from her seat in the lobby, kiseed her baby, hunded it to a younger sister of her husband with the romark that she would never soo it again, and then walked calmly into the place where death was awaiting her, her small, slight figure not betraying by even the slightest tremor a dread of that greatest of all tests of courage.

There were crowds about the morgue all day, but none was allowed to enter and view the bedies of John Parker and his wife Nellie. The salicida and murderer had asked to be buried beside his wife, and, being a Crtholic, the request would have resulted in her being laid with him in unconsecrated ground. The girl's mother had exposed her marriage to Parker, and the murder had turned the mother's indifference to intense hatred. She ordered the dead girl's body taken from the side of the murderer and buried in consecrated ground in Calvary cemeters, and her order was ground in Calvary cometery, and her order was oboyed. Parker will be buried to-day, his father paying the undercaker's bill.

MONEY AND BUSINESS.

The Outlook as Yiewed by The New York Tribune.

New York, Fob. 6.—The Tribune says: The past week has not been a satisfactory one in business. The failure of a large and important iron establishment at Chicago, the closing of the Goodyear rubber works, throwing 1,300 mon out of employment for a time, an ugly strike resulting in a riot near Cincinnati, the destruction of large refining works at Cloveland by fire, the defalcation of the treasurer of Alabama, the delay of congress in acting upon the tariff bill, and the prospect that it may refuse to suspend silver comage, all have tended to make the week a somewhat discouraging one. The volume of business grows smaller, Judging from exchanges, which, after allowance for transactions arising from sales of stocks, probably did not exceed $491,-000,000 at New York last week-27 per cent, less than those of the corresponding week in 1882. At the west, sovoro storms have blockaded some of the reads and seriously interrupted business. It is noticed that buyers of dry goods here "operate with rather less liberality than is usual at this stage of the season;" breadstuffs and cotton are very quiet for export, but active in speculation, and petroleum and provisions are in somewhat the same condition. The worst feature of the situation is that the The worst reature of the situation is that the gambling and of most markets is very dull. Thus there were sold last week 67 bales of cotton for export, 2.513 for consumption, and 448,400 bales for future delivery." As the northern spinners require marrly 200,000 bales a month, and have bought in this market only 15,446 bales since January 1, it may be interred that they are doing as little as possible at present.

Speculation has been very active. About 37,000,000 barrels of petroloum—more than there is in the world—were sold hast week at the four exchanges that report. There was no especial change in price, but money is growing tight in the oil regions, and some New York banks are extending increased facilities to encentains in that product here. THE FLOODS.

Toledo in Great Danger from a Gigantic Ice-Gorge---The High Waters Receding.

Toreno Feb. 7 -The continued cold weather very materially allayed the tears of a flood in Toledo, but at dark last evening a blinding snow-storm set in, and at 10 p. m. it was still enowing. The weather has moderated, with indications that it may turn to rain. If it does nothing can save the ci. om a disastrous flood. The icc remains gorged three miles above the city, but is slowly plowing its way down. Reports which come from towns up the river are of a most distressing natura. The condition of things at Napoleon is especially had. During the night the water rose there with great rapid-things at Napoleon is especially bad. During the night the water rose there with great rapidity and this morning found the town in a most pitiable shaps. At 7 o'clock yesterday morning the marks showed the water to be eighteen inches higher than ever before known by the eldest inhabitant. The entire lower portion of the town is submerged and the people were busily engaged in securing valuables through second stories by boats. The canal and river are virtually one body, the flats between them being covered by a vasteen of rearing water. The water rose until 11 o'clock at the rate of about four inches per hour. It is gorged five miles below the city. All the residence of the submerged portion were rescued by boats, and in many instances this proved extremely difficult on account of the ica. A dispatch from Froment reports the river falling there. Several stores have their front doors opened for business. In a day or two Front street will be clear for trains. The Wheeling and Lake Eric track from the depot east is clear, and trains come into the city, but they cannot enter from the north. The water has fullen about four feet. The relief committee are doing noble work. About 7 o'clock Sunday morning, a west-bound train on the Lake Shore road was approaching their bridge, at Fremont, and just before it reached it the watchman discovered the structure sway, and gave the signal to stop, but it was too late. The engineer jumped before reached it he watchman discovered the structure as the locomotive struck the bridge the structure gave way, but the engine and six cars reached the other side in safety. The remaining thirty-five cars were piled into the river, and some of them lodged against the bridge of the Whoeling & Lake Erio, and moved in several inches. All of the train men escaped uninjured.

Pritishurg, Feb. 7.—The rivers here have fallen eight feet since last report and the danger from high water is ever. The mills have nearly all resumed work, and the only parties particularly discommoded now are the railroad particularly discommoded now are the railroad companies and the residents of Herr's island. When the latter were reached by skiffs, they were found to be in a comparatively comfortable condition and very glad to talk with people from the mainland. Their twenty-four hours' imprisonment on a flooded island in the midst of a raging river was not devoid of terror. A number of the families on the island are already taking measures to move therefrom. They have no desire by undergo a repetition of their experience since Sunday. From the Sixteenth street bridge to the island the track of the Pittsburg & Weeten railroad is covered with huge blocks of ice, lumber, rafts, cars on their sides, driftwood, and dobris, making a most dismal spectacle. It will take some days to clear away the obstructions.

tacle. It will take some days to clear away the obstructions.

MEADVILLE, Feb. 7.—The great danger from the flood has passed, but its effects will not seen be eradicated. The extreme cold formed ice all over the flooded district so thick that it soon be cranacted. The extreme cold formed ice all over the floodod district so thick that it must be chopped away. This change of weather, while it checked the flood, rendered the streets impassable, except to persons on skates, and at least one half the territory embraced in the city is now converted into immeasurable skating parks. Persons are now able to reach nearly all the houses on the ice, but having reached them they find new difficulties inside, where the ice prevents them gaining admission through the doors. The less to household goods, furniture and provisions will be increased from this cause. The first train from the west arrived yesterday evening with the Sunday morning papers, the first outside news received for throe days. The valley south as far as can be seen is a see of ice, with only an occasional telegraph pole in sight to indicate where a railroad might be found.

DE BELLEVILLE'S WOES.

The Union Square's Leading Man Sued for Divorce by One of His Alleged Wives.

A Claim by the Defendant that No Wedding Ceremony Was Ever Solemnized.

New York, Feb. 7.—The sensation created bast October, when Frederick de Belleville, an ctor of the Union Square theatre, deserted the woman with whom he had been living nearly hree years, and whom he introduced as his wife, and married Miss Ella Pfordner at Chiengo, is revived by the announcement that the woman so introduced and desorted has begun an action for divorce. John H. Bird, plaintiff's counsel, said: "Mrs. de Belleville desired to avoid publicity as much as possible, but a few days ago she was grossly insulted by de Belloville, and as she had suffered much from insinuations against her character she resolved to come before the public in her own defense." The complaint, which was served Dec. 28, alleges that the plaintiff was married to the defendant in Australia, Jan. 1, 1880; that the defendant had a salary of $110 a week, and that the plaintiff has no means. She makes Miss Pfordner the correspondent, and asks for divorce and $25 a week. Mr. do Bolleville in his answer denies that he was ever married to the plaintiff, and that at but ime of the alloged marriage he was the bushand of Julia J. Josephs, whom he married in London in May, 1876. This mar-riage, he says, was subsequently dissolved and he was married to Ella Pfordner on Oct. and he was married to Ella Pfordnor on Oct. 30 last at Chicago. A statement by the plaintiff, in which she recounts acts of cruelty on the part of De Belleville, accompanies the complaint. She charges him with two attempts to kill her, once in May, 1882, when he stabbed her under the right shoulder with a sword came, and in July last, when she charges he came behind her while she was standing on the platform of a sleeping-car on the train conveying the Union Square company to San Francisco, and attempted to knock her off the car. This statement is supported by soveral Francisco, and attempted to knock her off the car. This statement is supported by soveral antidevite, including those of Sarah Jewott, Eleanor Carey, Alico Dunning Lingard, Maud Harrison and Charles R. Thorne. Morton and Smith awar that Do Eollovillo and the plaintiff registored at the Morton house tarce years ago as man and wife, and that the plaintiff has always been hold in the highest esteem. An order to show cause why the defendaht should not be compelled to pay alimony and counsel foes ponding the action, returnable Thursday, was obtained to-day on these affidavits. The plaintiff charges that De Bellevillo destroyed ponding the action, returnable Thursday, was obtained to-day on these affidavits. The plaintiff charges that De Belleville destroyed the cortificate of their marriage, but Mr. Charles C. D. Manbury makes affidavit that while at Melbourne, in 1880 De Belleville offered to show him the marriage certificate in while at Melbourne, in 1880 De Bolleville offered to show him the marriage certificate if he doubted that the plaintid was his wife. This was in consequence of a report spread by an enemy of De Belleville's.

Mr. do Belleville was called on at the Union Square theatre last evening, where he appeared in 'A Parisian Romance.' He seemed much affected when the subject of the diverce suit was mentioned. "What can I say?" said he. "There is much that is not true in the statement of this woman, but of course I can not attack a woman, and it would not be proper for me to tell all the truth. Edith know that I was a married man when she came to live with me, for I teld her of my marriage in London. She was not a school girl, as appears from her statement, but was a widow, as she teld uo, and lived with the Misses Plarst, who kept a small children's school in Melbourne as a and lived with the Misses Hurst, who kept a small children's school in Melbourne as a boarder. I never married her, for although she was a handsome, refined girl, and I was devoted to her, I learned a few months after we began to live together, something of her past history from a friend named McKenzie, in Melbourne, which decided me not to marry her. During all the time that we lived together, I gave her all my salary but about $5 a week, which I reserved for personal expenses. I stuck to the woman through thick and thin, and would have nover left her had she not given me reahave nover left her had she not given me rea-son to doubt her. It is true that I introduced her to my friends as my wife. That was a mistake and a wrong which I repent bitterly, but which I have reason to believe has been forgiven by those with whom I associate who understand my position. I acknowledge having written the letters in which I addressed her as 'Dear Wife.' The trip to Geelong, where we were supposed to have been married, and the references in the letter were simply blinds to the friends she had been living among. When I married my present wife, this woman threatened to blight my present wife, this woman threatened to blight my prefessional prospects in this country by newspaper exposure. A few weeks ago she was willing to settle the matter for $1,500 and a divorce, Mr. William Palmer advised me to compromise if possible. I offered her $1,000, and agreed not to oppose an application for divorce. This she declined, holding over me har threats of newspapers exposure. As it is, the only alleged ground of divorce in the complaint is an allegation that I have been unduly intimate with my wife. I do not think that she can possibly get a divorce from a man to whom she was never married, and I shall oppose her presecution to the uttermost. riends she had been

No Hope for the Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Fob. 7 .- There is no longo: any doubt of the failure of the tariff bill. Even Judge Kelley, chairman of the ways and means committee, stated to your correspondent today that he had no hope of the bill, and gave as a reason, the same given by Mr. Carlisle, of as a reason, the same given by Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky—that in the limited time this congress has of life it is a physical impossibility to pass upon it. Mr. Kelley has hope, though, that a revenue bill of some kind will get through. It is possible that the house will continue to peg away on the bill all of this week, after which it will have to give way to the appropriation bills. The senate will pass a bill in some shape, but this can not be passed in the house, because the Ohio and remanylvania Ropublicans will not support it, the iron schedule having been so reduced that it is obnexious to the him protectionists. The one of this whole thrite discussion will be that toward the close of the session as attempt will be made to pass the house bill under a suscension of the rules. This will require a two-thirds vote, and; "of course, it will fail. A record, however, will have been made and with this all hands will be centent. Nor is it believed that President Arthur will call an extra neved that President Arthur will call an extra session of congress if the bill does fail, for the reason that neither Ropublicans nor Democrats want a called session, and the president would a great deal rather have congress away from Washington than in it.

CONGRESS AND THE TARIFF.

The Postal Bill Laid Over and the Customary Wrestle Over the Tariff

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Fob. 7 .- After a short executive session, yesterday, Mr. Morrill moved to proceed to the consideration of the tariff bill. Mr. Ferry asked unanimous consent to take up the post route bill, and said in his opinion, and in the opinion of the public, the tariff bill would not pass this session, and, if the news-papers could be believed, this was the opinion of the prosident himself. Several senators insisted on procooding with the tariff bill, and Mr. Forry accepted the suggestion that the post route bill lie over till to-day. The tariff bill was then taken up.

The pending question being on the amondment offered by Mr. Book Monday evening, exmont one of the duty of 10 cents per pound laid by the bill upon "wools of the first class, the value whereof at the last port or place whence ex-ported to the United States, excluding charges in such port, shall be 30 cents per pound or less," to such wools valued at 32 cents or less per pound, it was agreed to—ayes 25 to nays 94

The house resolutions in relation to the death of the late Representatives Updegraff and Hawk were received. Mossrs. Sherman and Pendleton spoke of Mr. Updegraff's life and Messrs. Logan, Hampton, and George of Mr. Hawk. At the conclusion of their remarks, the usual resolutions were adopted, and the soutes adjourned. sontae adjourned.

Mr. Tucker moved to reduce the dary on the cost of polished plate glass, undelivered, above 24x30 inches square and not exceeding 64x60 inches, from 25 to 15 conts per square foot.

A running debate followed, and at last Mr. Kelloy moved that the committee rise for the purpose of closing the debate. This proposition are to a state of the purpose of closing the debate.

THE CONGRESSIONAL GRIST.

While the Sound of "the Grinding is Low."

Washington, Feb. 7.-Congress has been in session over forty weeks, or ten times as long as it has foft to live. The souate calendar has upon it for action between three hundred and four hundred bills, and the house calendar has mon it nearly thirteen hundred besides a large number pending in committees of which the country will never hear more than it has heard. There have been introduced in the house over seventy-five hundred bills, and in the senate about twenty-five hundred, making a total in round numbers of ten thousand bills introduced. CV the seventeen hundred bills in the house and sonate which have been favorably reported by committees, it is protty certain that sixteen hundred will not pass—will be left to die for want of time in which to consider them. Of the 1,300 in the house, nearly 500 are bills "on the private calendar." that is to say, bills for the hencefit of individuals—to pay ponsion and other claims against the government, which are not within the limits provided by law. Then there are some 200 bills passed by the senate, awaiting action by the house, and 300 more awaiting ection by the "committee of the whole house on the state of the union." a total in round numbers of ten whole house on the state of the union.

Washington, Feb. 7.-A prominent Democratic senator was asked if it was a fact that a number of Democratic senators had recommended to the president the appointment of Con. Joseph E. Johnston to the place of commissioner of the District of Columbia. He roplied: "Yes; and Senator Hampton and Senator Jones of Nevada called on the president and made a personal apppeal in Gen. Johnston's behalf. The president said that he would willingly appoint Gen. Johnston, but for one fact, and that was that he was inclicible, not having been a resi-dent of the district the length of time required by law,"

"Then the fact of Gen. Johnston's ineligibility is not now "No; that fact has been known to his friends in the senate almost since his name was first mentioned in connection with the commission-

The Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.-The most important schedule in the bill has now been reached, and the result of the next dayor two will afford : test of the real disposition of the protectionist toward a reduction of internal taxation. It refuse to approve of high and increased duties upon ore and other raw materials in this schedule, that will presage reductions upon articles manufactured of iron in its varied forms. Mr. Morrison profi ered to Mr. Kelley, as a means of saving time and porhaps securing a basis of adjustment of differences, that he be allowed to offer at once the sounte schedule of metals as a substitute, the sonato schedulo of metals as a substitute, so that it might be considered before the metal schedulo prepared by the committee of ways and means. Mesers. Kelloy and Reed and a dozon other Republicans were on their foot in a minute, objecting to what Mr. Kelloy declared with great gravity would be a surronder of one of the highest prorogatives of his committee. The proceedings of to-day are looked forward to with great interest by both parties.

PENNSYLVANIA'S GOVERNOR

age sent yesterday to the legislature, calls the attention of that body to many important subjects calling for legislative action during the present session. The governor recommends the abolition of the office of recorder. Attention is next called to the charters granted by the legislature years ago, which have never been used, and are new being hawked about through the state and the United States for sale. One of the greatest scandals our history ever knew, that of the cradit mobilior, was room, made possible by this condition of affairs, and that the great blot upon the national honor had its origin in the purchase of the Ponnsylvania act of incorporation. The charters should lapse to the state for the nonuser, but, at all events, the attorney-general will, at the first opportunity, make tests for the courts to determine. Meanwhile the legislature should enset some have revoking all such franchisos wherever bous fide organization has not been offected. The message concludes with a recommendation that the legislature take steps to enforce the constitution with regard to giving equal rights to all individuals and associations upon railroads and canals, without discrimination in charges or facilities as to person and places. The constitution now prohibits the consolidation of stock property or franchises of companies empanies; provides that common cartiers shall not engage in any business other than that of common carrying, seeks to prevent officers of corporations from profiting corruptly by business of their companies; prohibits unfair preferences in furnishing cars or motive power by drawback or otherwise and forbids the issuing of free passes to any person other than an officer or omploye. The governor recommends that a bill be passed to give full effect to those sections of the constitution. charters should lapse to the state for the nonions of the constitution.

Wade Hampton on the Late Congressman Hawk.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 .- In the senate yesterday, during the action of that body oulogistic of the late Congressman Hawk of Illinois, Sonator Wade Hampton arose and said that he had just been asked by the two Illinois senators to speak a few words. He regretted that he had not had more time, that he might have porformed his duty more worthily. He and Maj. Hawk had met twice under peculiar of the series of the series and the contents and the contents and the battle. Afterward, when one of them was representing South Carolina in the conate, and the other filiness in the house they chanced to meet. Both were one-legged men, and, under the influence of a mutual affliction, the senator spoke to Maj. Hawk. The latter appropriate forms allegance of the meeting and the senator spoke to Maj. Hawk. The latter expressed some pleasure at the meeting, and said: "Tlost my leg in the attack Gen. Hampton made on our camp." The two gentleman were on terms of friendship immediately. The senator learned to regard Maj. Hawk as a man of high character, strict integrity, and the highest soldierly qualities. The acquaintance had targht the senator this lesson, which he said could not be too efter impressed upon the minds of the people, that all of us are now efficient one common country. I us are now citizens of one common country. I feel sure," said Gen. Hampton, "that the humble flower I lay upon his tomb will not be valued less because it comes from one who was his enemy in arms."

Marriage of Attorney General Brewster's Daughter. Washington, Feb. 7.-Miss Mary Walker Browster, daughter of the attorney general, was married last night at Epiphany Episcopal church, this city, to Robert J. W. Koons, of Philadelphia, There were ten bridesmaids, one of them the daughter of Senator Miller, of California, ten ushors, and a best man for the groom. The large church was filled with invited guests, including President Arthur and many other persons of high position in the and many other persons of high position in the official and social life of Washington. The wedding reception was held soon afterward at the residence of the bride's parents. A large portion of the diplomatic corps and most of the army and many officers who subsequently attended the president's special reception were present at this wedding, and their official costemes made the seene uncommonly hrithant. The president's carriage, white he and his daughter were on their way to the church, was run into by a carriage in the rear, and the pole daughter were on their way to the church, was run into by a carriage in the rear, and the pole of the latter broke through a panel, but did not strike either occupant. On his return from church, however, the wheel of President Arthur's carriage became looked with those of several others, and, finding his aircady-damagod vehicle could not be extricated without long delay, the president abandoned it and walked home with his daughter through the rain. The occurrence created some excitement and gave rise to a number of alarming rumors as to the president's safety.

The Ferry Failure.

DETROIT, Fob. 7 .- The liabilities of Ferry & Bro. and other firms in which they are jointly interested, it is believed, will range from $500,000 to $750,000. They will probably reach the latter amount, and about $500,000 will cover all assets, and these have been secured to creditors, mostly in Chicago, Grand Hazen, and Grand Rapids; while creditors who are not secured will probably not get a cent.

Married at Evansville, Wis., Feb. 1st, 1883, Mr. Frank A. Hanover and Miss Katie Potter. The announcement of the above event some days in advance of its consummation, caused quite a ripple in Evansville society, the contracting parties being well known having both of them lived in Evansville since their childhood and were favorites with both old and young. In order to properly cele-brate the event Mr. and Mrs. Homer Pot-ter, parents of the bride elect gave one of the most elaborate and well planned receptions and supper your correspondent has over had the privilege of witnessing. The marriage ceremony took place in the those hard colds which are so much of andience room of the M. E. church, the Rev. Henry Faville officiating. There was a large floral arch spunning the alter with a beautiful floral bell suspended in sick with lung fever.

The bridgl cortege, as they approached the ultar, marched up the main center assle, led by the ushers, Mr. A. Manning, John Porter, Fred Baker and Ed. Fisher, followed by John M. Evans, Jr. with Miss Lottic Bemis, and Arvin Potter with Miss Nellie M. Burchard, as groomsmen and bride's maids, the bride and groom following in the rear. As the procession approached the altur the columns divided to the right and left, leaving the bride and groom in the center, immediately under the floral bell, where the twain were made one by the authority vested in the Rev. H. Faville and the ceremonies bridal party reversed the order of their coming, the bride and groom marching in front and the ushers in the rear. The party went directly to the com-modious parlors of the church, where the reception was held. After a half hour spent in hand shaking and other tokens of congratulation, the guests returned again to the audience room of the church. while those having the culinary matter in charge, set tables and loaded them with the good things of this life, at which one hundred and forty-three persons were seated at the first table. The writer did not learn how many invitations there were sent out, but there were one hundred and sixty-seven persons present at supper. After supper was over the company resolved itself into the committee pany resolved itself into the committee of the whole, having under consideration the beauty and probable value of the presents. After an hour spent the committee reported that there was a large sumber of beauty and costly presents, among which that attracted the attention of the writer, was a beautiful centre table, a dozen solid silver teaspoons, a large and costly easy chair, a student lamp, some filligree jewelry, (from friends in New Mexico,) bedding, table linnen, napkins, towels, china ware, some of which was beautifully hand painted, a full chamber set, a large family Bible, a large

THE LENTEN SEASON.

The Observance of the Season in the Episcopal and Catholic Churches, TRINITY CHURCH.

Beginning with to-day, Ash Wednerday, services will be held in Trinity church daily throughout the season of Lent, at 10:30 a.m. and 7 p. m., the service being held in the church chapel. Rev-Horace Gates, rector of the parish, has issued a circular letter to the members of his parish from which we take the following:

"To-day we enter upon the holy fast of Lent. The word itself, in the old Saxon, signifies 'the spring,' and has been age plied to the spring fast, or the time of humiliation observed by christians before the festival of Easter."

Christians, from the earliest times have set apart some definite period for prayer and self-denial in memory of the sufferings of Christ. This is the ground up on which I ask you,—as a christian,—as one who renders Christ rational worship sincerity and reverence.

I know, if one very near and dear to you should be at the point of death, or in great suffering, or had but now been laid to rest in God's acre, you would, out of respect, if from no higher motive, absent yourself, for a season, from places of public entertainment or social amuse-As your conduct in this case would be the earnest of your sincerity, so must the degree of your observance of the Lenten-tide indicate your love for Christ, reverence of all He has done for you, and faith in His abiding Presence with His church.

Let me suggest a few helps to a profitable Lent: 1. Try to attend at least one of the daily services each day. 2. Be regular in receiving the weekly

3. Deny yourself in permitted things. Denial in things lawful is always healthy discipline-provided you use therein the judgement and common sense God has blessed you with, having first prayed Him to enlighten you with His Holy Spirit, that you may see the clearer how to act. 4. Be active in good works: this includes alms-giving; laying by the material fruits of denial for the Easter offering: faithful performance of the work assigned you, &c.

5. Before your private devotions let your self-examination be keen and search.

6. Keep Lent in your heart. When christianity hangs out a sign its but skin deep, it even that. See St. Matt., VI:16-7. Cultivate humility, obedience, faith." CHRIST CHURCH Services at Christ church during Lent will be as follows: Holy communion each Sunday at 10:30.a. m. Week day services Wednesdays and Eridays at 4 p. m. Holy week there will be a daily service at 4 p.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

Daring the season of Lent, on Wondesday and Friday evenings, at 7 o'clock, Devotions of the Cross, will be conduct ed by the pastor, Rev. Father Roche.

The Masquerade.

The masquerade of the Janesville Concordia society, held at their hall in the Mitchell block, last evening, was the most successful one eyer held in this city. The hall was packed, many being obliged to remain in the reception rooms and in the hallways. There were many very fine characters represented, as well as some comical ones, but the ridicnlous predominated, as is usual on such occasions. All raised their masques at eleven o'clock, and for a time there was great merriment among the throng, and between friends upon being recognized. Notwithstanding the great crowd present, the best of order was maintained, and all present enjoyed the masquerade to its full extent. Smith & Slocum's band furnished the music, and received much praise from the dancers. The society are to be congratulated on the great success of the party.

Fire at Milton Junction.

Mr. W. W. Clarke, of Milton, telephoned a special message to the Gazette. to day, which says that the flour and feed store of K. W. The Knights of Pythias at Beloif. Last evening a delegation from Oriental Lodge No. 22, Knights of Phythias, consisting of Messra, W. T. Vankirk, J. B. Doe, Jr. Charles Atwood, E. B. Heimstreet, E. Croft, went to Beloit for the purpose of assisting in the ceremonies of instituting a newlodge in that city, and returned home at six o'clock this marning. The boys report that they had a jovial good time in Beloit. We have a report that some of the party slipped away from the work at Beloit in the hopes of reaching home in time to see the wind up of the Concordia masquerade, but were compelled to remain in Afton until the arrival of the remainder of the party which was five o'clock this morning, and that while in Afton they had an impromptue banquet in a grocery store; that the Aiton groceryman was compelled to come to Janesville to procure a fresh supply of crackers, cheese and dried herring before he could open up business again. Notwithstanding the delays, in reaching home, the party were all well pleased with the trip. A delegation from the order here will visit Monroe to-morrow evening, for the purpose of instituting a lodge in that

The Theater. It was unfortunate both for the theater goers of [Janesyille and the Ada Gray company, that there was not a large audience at the opera house last night when East Lynne was performed. Miss Gray lis one of the most accomplished actresses we have had in this city for some time, and her acting of Lady Isabel was a fine piece of artistic work. She is a woman of power, has a fine physique, a lignified bearing, and a splendid voice, and made a conquest of the good opinion of the audience from the beginning of the play. Her support, was very good, even much better than the average. The weather was unfavorable for amusement seekers, last night. The snow fell heavily, which kept scores from the opera

are turning out berb wire of superior quality, both painted and galvanized. About three tons of wire per day can be made with the present machinery. The superiority of this barb wire consists in the fact that both the main strands and the barbs are made of the strongest steel wire that can be bought. The barbs have four points, instead of two, thus making it effective in every direction, and also much more easily seen. The barbs are secured to both main strands and cannot slip off as would be the case if fastened to but one strand should it become broken. The barbs being made of wire have no cutting edges, as is the case with flat metal barbs, but have a sharp point, so as to prick, which warns stock to keep away from it. The main strands have a long twist between the barbs, which takes less wire, so that the cost is less, at the same time it has twice the number of barb points than if barbs were made with two points only. As this wire is made in our own state, and will be kept by dealers, we feel sure farmers will soon per ceive its merits, and buy it in preference to interior wire made at distant points.
